

Opus 4 has continued its relationship with the global leading advisory and interim management firm, Zolfo Cooper, by fitting out their new offices in Manchester. Their new space is located on the fifth floor of the spectacular new Zenith Building, Spring Gardens. The state of the art building features soft white Portland stone and rich zinc cladding, with full height glazing featuring stunning views across the city.

Such a high quality building required a fit-out to complement it and Zolfo Cooper turned to Opus 4 following successful projects at Leeds and London. The project featured contemporary seamless-glazed partition walls, extensive wall and floor decoration, mechanical modifications and electrical works, bespoke joinery and office furniture.

"We are delighted with the results of our Manchester office, and to have partnered Opus 4 on another successful project. I have already instructed them on another project for our Birmingham team".
