

M30/150

The manually operated cable insulation removers are used in the electrician workshop or in the cable pre-assembly industry, when the insulation of cables has to be removed quickly.

Once adjusted, a simple pull on the hand lever and the part of the outer insulation is cut and removed. The cutting blades can be adjusted easily without any tools to suit your cable diameter and insulation removal length.