Who we are

Environtec is one of the UK's best known and most trusted specialists in asbestos, legionella, lead paint and fire safety services.

Founded in 1994, we have built a highly effective network of branches across England, Scotland and Wales. We're the partner of choice for hundreds of companies and organisations, ranging from blue-chip firms and government departments to NHS trusts, schools and universities.

With some 250 highly skilled team members, we're proactive, approachable and professional. Whether your project covers multiple sites or just one, we have the expertise and resources to deliver the services you need - quickly, accurately and to deadline.

"Environtec proactively support the successful delivery of every project through their responsive nature and collegiate approach."

"Environtec have continued to provide a very professional and dedicated service to an extremely high standard."

How we can help you

We began life as an independent environmental consultancy, specialising in asbestos risk management. Since then, we've developed and grown to offer the following services.

Asbestos

- » Inspection - We survey buildings and sites for evidence of asbestos material, providing you with surveys that comply with the Control of Asbestos Regulations 2012.
- » Testing - We provide a full suite of air testing services, which are also available on an emergency basis 365 days per year. We offer a wide range of laboratory analysis services and can analyse samples immediately or within 24 to 72 hours, depending on urgency. We have the ability to provide all air testing and sample analysis at all of our office locations.
- » Management - We provide all the necessary services to assist your asbestos removal/remedial projects, no matter how complex. We can help you design these works by producing detailed specifications. We can also provide asbestos management plans to ensure your policies and procedures are up-to-date and compliant.
- » Soils/contaminated land - This is a growing service, particularly in demand by developers building on brownfield sites. We not only offer UKAS accredited soil analysis services, but also work with clients to create a practical strategy for investigating and remediating sites.

Legionella

- » A wraparound legionella offering - We supply a full range of Legionella services, from risk assessments and remedial actions, to water sampling analysis and bespoke training.

Lead Paint

- » State-of-the-art surveys - We offer on-site XRF surveys using cutting-edge, handheld equipment that detects and quantifies lead in paint. In addition, we can provide detailed recommendations, analysis of dust and soil, plus advice on the cleaning of lead-contaminated sites.

Fire Safety

- » A full fire risk and safety service - We can provide risk assessments, evacuation plans and fire safety training that's tailored to your requirements.

Who we work for

We provide services to a wide range of sectors and industries, including the following:

- » Banks
- » Blue Chip clients
- » Housing associations
- » Local authorities
- » NHS trusts
- » Retail
- » Schools
- » Government departments
- » Universities

The Portman Estate

We have worked with the Portman estate on all aspects of asbestos management for over a decade.

"Environtec are one of our most trusted consultants, who since their first appointment approximately 14 years ago, have continued to provide a very professional and dedicated service to an extremely high standard. They are an integral part of the Estate's refurbishment programme and proactively support the successful delivery of every project through their responsive nature and collegiate approach."

Freshwater Property Management

We have provided this major property management firm with asbestos services since 1995.

"Environtec have been our asbestos consultant for more than 25 years. We've come to rely on their quick response and management support structure to assist with our compliance requirements."

One Housing Group

We have provided One Housing Group with monthly temperature monitoring, legionella risk assessments and consultancy since 2019, both for its sheltered housing and general needs blocks.

"Environtec has provided excellent customer service and support through the recent changes we had to implement with our supply chain, which has assured us that we are in safe hands"

NHS Property Services

We are a longstanding partner of NHS Property Services, working with them in different areas of the country.

"The team at Environtec are responsive, highly knowledgeable and very dependable. As the regional minor works manager for NHS PS in NE and Yorkshire, I have drawn on their advice for a number of high-profile ACM removal schemes and R&D surveys and asbestos consultancy."

Scottish Prison Service

The Scottish Prison Service has relied our range of asbestos services since 2017.

"For the duration of the contract Environtec Limited have delivered a high level of service, have been professional in their delivery and have regularly provided advice and assistance."

Knight Frank

The UK's leading independent real estate consultancy has used Environtec's asbestos services for a number of years.

"A big thank you, to your team for not always picking the easiest route but for the greater good of the client and stepping up to the mark when it mattered."

Mapeley

One of the UK's largest commercial landlords, Mapeley relies on our asbestos services for assets across the country.

"We have worked with Environtec across our estates for over 8 years. During this time we have received valuable support and excellent service. We are happy to count Environtec as one of our trustworthy contractors"

Santander

We regularly provide this blue-chip client with asbestos surveys and undertake asbestos removal. We have worked with Santander across the UK since 2015.

STFC

This government research agency uses Environtec for both asbestos and lead paint services.

University of Greenwich

"The University of Greenwich have worked with Environtec Limited for the past eight years, with them providing an excellent service, they give additional support and assistance to the Asbestos Duty Holder. They have provide cost savings for all asbestos related works and management. It is an excellent relationship, one which we will continue."

Giving something back

At Environtec, we are passionate supporters of local communities and we take our responsibility to protect the environment seriously.

These are just some of the ways we give something back.

Community support

- » Providing voluntary football coaching for primary school pupils.
- » Participating in events to raise money for Crohn's and Colitis UK.
- » Offering voluntary help at the Helen Rollason Cancer Charity.
- » Supporting the Poppy Appeal with volunteer time.

Economic opportunities

- » A strong internal training programme, providing opportunities for unskilled people to train as qualified consultants or asbestos or legionella administrators.
- » We work closely with local communities to find out of work individuals a route back into employment through our variety of company roles.

Environmental initiatives

- » Balancing our carbon footprint. We have worked with the Ecopoint scheme to balance our carbon footprint by planting hundreds of trees.
- » Reducing our carbon emissions. We use strategic project planning and low emission transport modes to cut our emissions, as well as providing environmental training for our staff.

A smart career move

At Environtec, we are always looking for motivated and talented people to join our team. We offer a friendly working environment, plenty of support and training, as well as a great career path within our industry.

Here's what some of our colleagues have to say about their roles.

"I have a very rewarding job and getting positive tender outcomes certainly assists with the enjoyment. Environtec is a great company to work for. The loyalty and support shown from the first minute has never wavered and, if anything, it's got stronger."

Helen Whitely, Bid Manager

"Consistent mentoring and training opportunities have helped me on my career path. I now oversee UKAS-accredited locations with a team of seven. We aim to continuously improve and promote high standards of work to site teams, while ensuring employees are safe and minimise their impact on the environment."

Alan Frost, SHEQ Manager

"At the beginning of 2019 I applied for the role of Trainee Contract Manager. It has helped me develop my knowledge and skillset exponentially. I currently oversee a number of client contracts and regularly manage large removal and surveying projects. I'm thoroughly enjoying working for Environtec."

Liam Beavis, Contract Manager

Where we work

We have branches across the UK, meaning we can provide all of our services to clients across the country. Local, in-house laboratories also ensure we can turn round asbestos sample analysis and other tests quickly.
